SPEAKER OF HOUSE SUCCUMBS TO HEART ATTACK THURSDAY

POPULAR CONGRESSIONAL LEADER MOURNED BY MEM- BERS ALL PARTIES

WASHINGTON, June 4. (P)—A capital grief-stricken by the sudden death of Joseph Wellington Byrns, speaker of the house of representatives, will pay its last respects to him in a state funeral at noon tomorrow.

In the house chamber where sorrowing members gathered briefly today to elect William Brockman Bankhead of Alabama to succeed Byrns in the chair, President Roosevelt and members of both branches of congress will attend the service.

Byrns' tireless and strength-giving drive to adjourn congress before the opening of the republican national convention next week was defeated by his death, of a heart attack and cerebral hemorrhage, at 12:15 a.m., E. S. T.

Both the senate and the chamber which the 66-year-old speaker had guided through history-making times put aside the rush of last-minute business and adjourned out of respect to him.

Members listened with bowed heads to close friends of the dead leader praise him, then adopted expressions of regret and resolutions for the appointment of ten senators and 60 representatives to attend the funeral in Tennessee.

The funeral party will entrain at 4:45 p.m., S. T. tomorrow over the Southern railroad for Nashville. It will arrive there at 12:50 p.m. Saturday and the funeral will be conducted immediately.

President Roosevelt, who will attend the state funeral, will go to Nashville for the funeral, probably in a special train accompanying the funeral train.

Rep. McReynolds of Tennessee, a member of the committee on funeral arrangements, disclosed that Byrns had told his wife that if he died he wanted the house chaplain, the Rev. James Shera Montgomery, to go to Nashville to preach the funeral service.

Joseph W. Byrns, Jr., his son, arrived from Nashville by airplane shortly before noon. He went immediately to his mother.

The senate called a halt in its debate of the tax program, one of the vital measures Byrns had sought to steer to the state books before the opening of the national party conventions. Leaders said it would be a mark of respect to him until the hour of the funeral tomorrow, when it would assemble to go to the house chamber.

PRESIDENT WILL ACCOMPANY BYRNS' BODY TENNESSEE

ROOSEVELT MOURNS PASS- ING OF STEADFAST FRIEND OF MANY YEARS

WASHINGTON, June 4. (P)—The White House said today that President Roosevelt would return to Washington after attending the funeral of Speaker Byrns at Nashville Saturday afternoon and start his western trip late Monday night in accordance with his original schedule.

It was planned at first that the executive would continue on to Little Rock, his first stop on his western trip, after the Nashville services. This later was changed, it was explained, because of the two day interval in which the body would be scheduled plans.

WASHINGTON, June 4. (P)—President Roosevelt, the White House announced today, will attend the state funeral for Speaker Byrns at the capital tomorrow and will accompany the funeral train and attend the burial services in Tennessee.

Stephen T. Ely, a presidential secretary, said the president's trip to Texas, scheduled to start Monday night, would be made. But the departure probably will be moved forward to allow attendance at the Byrns funeral.

Plans of the president between the burial services and the first speaking stop on his western trip at Little Rock, Ark., set for 7 p.m., Central Standard time, June 10, will be held in abeyance pending the decision of the late speaker's family as to the time and place of the burial.

The president issued a statement soon after being informed by Mrs. Roosevelt of the speaker's sudden death, saying he personally mourned the passing of "a steadfast friend of many years."

The statement follows:

"Speaker Byrns belonged to that school of statesmen which is the hope and justification of our democracy."

Extortion Notes Sent Evangelist; Writer Is Held

SAN DIEGO, Calif., June 4. (P)—Identical Philip McAuliffe, maintained in jail today as investigators checked deeper into his story of mailing extortion notes to Evangelist Aimee Semple McPherson at Los Angeles.

The 42-year-old toothless cripple voluntarily told County Investigator Harry Baugh he sent five notes to Sister Aimee demanding $10,000 on a threat of "making public" photographs he said he had of the evangelist in the nude.

In Los Angeles Mrs. McPherson, flanked by a pair of husky bodyguards, declared:

"Unquestionably, the man must be a crank. Certainly no pictures of me exist that I wouldn't be perfectly willing to have published."

McAuliffe, who said he was an ex-convict and until a few days ago a member of Sister Aimee's Four Square Gospel flock, told varying versions of the series of notes.

PAUL RUNYAN BURNS UP COURSE NATIONAL OPEN TOURNAMENT

DIMINUTIVE PROFESSIONAL SHOOTS 69; TRIO SHOOT- ERS GET SEVENTIES

BALTIMORE, Md., June 4. (P)—Blistering the incoming half of the Baltusrol course, diminutive Paul Runyan, the Arkansas-born professional from the Metropolitan Club of White Plains, N. Y., fired a 35-49, three under par, today to take a one-shot lead in the first round of the United States Open Golf championship. He held out a 125-yard mashie niblick shot on the 602-yard 11th, longest hole on the course, for an eagle.

Runyan's electrifying performance overhauled tall Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa., professional, heavily backed favorite, who had set the early lead with a 40-47.

The former National B. G. A. champion gained a two stroke margin over blonde Craig Wood of West Orange, N. J., Ted Lowndes of Portland, Ore., and Harry Cooper, Chicago professional, all with 71.

Runyan, out in 35 with the aid of a birdie at the fifth, had a pair of deuces on the incoming route in addition to his eagle.

He stuck his tee shot only three feet from the cup on the 158-yard tenth and dropped a 22-footer for his second deuce on the 140-yard 15th.

Meanwhile, among those in pursuit, Gigi Ghezzi, of Deal, N. J., tall, handsome and one of the longest hitters in the professional brigade, cut new low marks of 33, three under par, for the outgoing nine.

Runyan's 69 clipped a stroke off the competitive record for the upper Baltusrol course. His eagle, or mark of 70, which Picard equalled was set last year by Craig Wood.

Johnny Revolta, bushy-haired American professional champion from Chicago, joined Picard in a tie for second place. Revolta, who

THOUSANDS EXTRA WORKERS ATTEMPT FINISH EXPOSITION

HALL OF STATE WILL NOT BE COMPLETED FOR SATURDAY OPENING EVENT

DALLAS, June 4. (P)—Fifteen thousand workers, 2,000 more than usual, toiled without rest today to assure completion of the $25,000,000 Texas Centennial Exposition before the gates open Saturday morning.

Three shifts have been placed on every unfinished project and in many instances man power of each unit is being doubled and tripled to hurry completion of all projects, George Anderson, superintendent, said.

More than 700 additional laborers of all types were hurried into the grounds to fill breaches in landscaping and decorating works.

The biggest task to be completed, Sodding was virtually completed around the main exhibit halls and in areas surrounded by trees and paved courts. Officials, who have worked magic overnight in readying the 200 acres for opening day visitors, predicted the entire exposition grounds would be a green lawn by daylight Saturday.

The $1,200,000 Hall of State building, show spot of the grounds, was not complete but the rear of the hall, where materials are stored, was boarded up by a painted fence and landscaping arched the front and sides were in final stages. Unusually scaffolded on the massive structure was razed.

Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper, official representative of President Roosevelt, will arrive here Saturday morning for the opening day ceremonies.

FRENCH GOVERNMENT CHANGED TODAY WITH STRIKES UNABATED

PARIS IS ASSURED OF FOOD BY ACTION MARKET AND ICE WORKERS

By EDWARD KENNEDY
(Copyright, 1936, By Associated Press.)

PARIS, June 4. (P)—Premier Albert Sarraut and his coalition cabinet resigned today to permit socialists to assume the government of strike-ridden France.

As Sarraut and his ministers made their "funeral march" across the street to the Elysee Palace to tender their resignations to President LeBrun, a strike movement embracing about 400,000 workers stifled industry with near paralysis.

The strike movement was met suddenly by a refusal on the part of leaders of metal industries to conduct any further negotiations with strikers until the latter evacuate more than 200 factories.

Even as Leon Blum, Socialist leader prepared to assume the premiership, reports in the chamber lobbies had it he might order Communists to call off their strikes as soon as he became head of the government.

Only two formalities intervened between the resignation of the Sarraut cabinet and the naming of Blum as premier.

Two to Consult.

President LeBrun had to consult former Premier Edouard Herriot, who was elected today as president of the new chamber of deputies, and Jules Jeanneney, president of the senate.

Herriot's new post corresponds to that of speaker of the house in the United States.

The rightist opposition to the new defense in the final year folded their arms in imitation of

ROOSEVELT SIGNED HALF BILLION NAVY BILL ON THURSDAY

THIS ACTION MAKES MORE THAN BILLION DOLLARS AVAILABLE FOR DEFENSE

WASHINGTON, June 4. (P)—More than a billion dollars for national defense in the fiscal year beginning July 1 was made available today with the signing by President Roosevelt of the $526,546,532 navy supply bill.

A $72,446,844 measure for the war department already had been signed into law. Both are record peace time appropriations for the military services.

The navy bill provides for an increase in enlisted strength from 95,500 as at present to 100,000, or within 10,000 of treaty limit.

It also carries funds for 333 new planes, 12 destroyers and six submarines. It authorizes two new battleships if any other treaty power starts similar construction and increases the size and facilities of the marine corps.

The army act provided funds to raise the enlisted strength from 147,000 to 165,000 men, to be recruited at the rate of 1,500 a month; 565 more airplanes, and $3,500,000 for improvements to sea and coast defenses on the west coast and around Hawaii and the Panama canal.

BLOODHOUNDS TRAIL MAN IN OKLAHOMA HILLS ON THURSDAY

COMPANION SHOT AND SERI- OUSLY WOUNDED BY PARTY OF OFFICERS

BLAGG, Okla., June 4. (P)—Bloodhounds led by "Old Eastern" trailed one man in the hills near here today after sheriff's officers from two counties shot one man, believed to be an ex-convict, and captured two others.

Deputy Sheriff Paul Hinson of Muskogee county said the dangerously wounded man was believed to be Estel Perkins, Carter county fugitive who escaped from a convict road camp at Clayton last August.

His body riddled by 12 shotgun slugs, the wounded man was believed near death at Tahlequah hospital.

Two of his companions were captured near the scene of the shooting in rugged country 18 miles south of Tahlequah. They were held in the Tahlequah county jail. Their names were not learned immediately.

Four men were flushed by Sheriff officers from Muskogee and Cherokee counties early today as the officers looked for auto thieves reported working in the vicinity.

Man Nearly 100 Years Old Father Of Another Child

NEW BERN, N. C., June 4. (P)—George Isaac Hughes, the 99-year-old Confederate veteran who amazed the medical world when he became a father 17 months ago, was all smiles again today—this time for a girl.

By the light of a crude, old-fashioned kerosene lamp in a small room of his little home near here, a second child was born last night to his 28-year-old wife, Libby Hill Hughes, whom Hughes married two and a half years ago.

"It looks like we might raise a pretty big family after all," Hughes commented. "You know I've been saying all along I'd live to be 110 years old—that's how long my grandmother, Katie Tillman, lived, and I don't look so old yet, do I?"

Hughes is vigorous for his age. His faculties are sharp and he does odd jobs, chopping wood and keeping a garden.

"I'm glad it was a girl," he said. "I thought it would be all the time I wanted a girl because the first one was a boy. Libby wanted a girl, too."

The Hughes' first-born, a lusty lad of 17 months now, is walking about as fast as a new-born babe and is learning the intricacies of speech. He was named Franklin Roosevelt Hughes.

College Student Kills Instructor And Then Himself

BETHLEHEM, Pa., June 4. (P)—Wesley L. Clow, Lehigh University senior of Pine Clow, Fla., slew an instructor, Charles Wesley Phy, then shot himself to death today in an argument over a re-examination.

The young instructor employed in the English department was shot twice in the chest. Clow shot himself in the head.

Harry T. Snavely, a student of Lancaster, Pa., said he witnessed the argument and shooting in a recitation room.

It was said at the university that Clow had an average examination rating less than 1 percent, a record of a passing grade.

After shooting Phy, Clow ran into the hall and turned the gun on himself. The instructor lived but a few minutes. Clow failed to respond to emergency treatment at a hospital.

KEYS QUADRUPLETS REACHED THEIR MAJORITY TODAY AND ADMIT THEY ARE VERY HAPPY

HOLLIS, Okla., June 4. (P)—The keys quadruplets are 21 years old today, the first quadruplets on record to reach majority.

And coming of age, the four girls—Mona, Roberta, Mary and Leota—talked of being grown up, of voting and of all the fun they've had in 21 years and of marriage, rather vaguely.

Being grown up isn't going to keep them from having fun together as they always have, they hastened to assure.

"We're probably a lot more fun and thrills and are happier than any other bunch of 21-year-old girls in the world," said Mary. "I hope that the next 21 years will be just as happy and that we keep right on laughing."

"The fact they're four of a kind won't mean they'll be the keys bloo when they walk into a voting booth."

"It's a thrill to be eligible to vote," Mona said. "We'll not vote alike, necessarily, but according to individual taste. The four of us are predicting that Roberta and I will vote alike and Mary and Leota will stick together as usual." (Roberta and Mona are identical twins.)

He returned to his home town three years ago from the United States, where he prospered. He has no relatives here, so he hit upon the hobby of mustache buying.

When Terzich meets someone with a pair of handlebars to his liking, he starts negotiations with the grower about shaving them off. Sometimes he closes the bargain for as little as 100 dinars ($2), but he paid 2,000 dinars ($40) to Yousa Gavranski.

CLEVELAND, June 4. (P)—Out of a welter of pre-convention maneuvers by prominent republican leaders came today renewed declarations indicating breach between the Landon-Knox camp and the Roosevelt-Hughes camp have been unaffected by preliminary overtures.

Frank L. Smith, Illinois national committeeman, reiterated his loyalty to Col. Frank Knox, Chicago publisher, as a possible presidential nominee in spiking reports he favored Landon-Knox behind Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas for the good of the party.

Former Senator George H. Moses, Knox supporter, asserted "all attempts at steamroller tactics will fail before they get fairly started."

Supporters of Sen. William E. Borah, of Idaho, greeted the proposed nomination of Rep. James W. Wadsworth of New York, as Landon's vice-presidential mate.

PLAN UNITED CHINA TO RESIST JAPAN'S GROWING AGGRESSION

JUST WHAT SITUATION IS NO ONE SEEMS TO KNOW; EMISSARIES AWAITED

By MORRIS J. HARRIS
(Copyright, 1936, By Associated Press.)

SHANGHAI, June 4. (P)—Emissaries of the Chinese Canton government sped northward today, official sources declared, to discuss with Nanking government officials proposals for a United Chinese war against "Japanese aggression."

Sources close to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, overlord of the Nanking administration, said the commander was awaiting elaboration of Canton proposals against Tokyo.

Contradictory statements from various sources continued to perplex Chinese and foreigners, particularly assertions 250,000 southern troops had marched into Hunan province.

(Some Japanese sources asserted the military movement was not designed against Japan but was the beginning of a Chinese civil war involving the Canton and Nanking armies.)

PASSAGE OF TAX BILL IS DELAYED BY BYRNS DEATH

SENATE LEADERS HOPE TO PASS HOTLY CONTESTED MEASURE FRIDAY

WASHINGTON, June 4. (P)—Congressional leaders today abandoned all hope of adjourning congress before the republican national convention in view of the death of Speaker Byrns.

The senate, which had expected to pass the tax bill today in an effort to wind up the session Monday night, recessed immediately when Byrns died.

(S. T. out of respect to the speaker who died suddenly during the night.)

Leaders said they would still try to pass the bill tomorrow or Saturday in order to get the controversial measure into conference, but that there was virtually no prospect for final action on it before the republican convention beginning Tuesday.

They said that with the tax bill in conference three days recesses would be taken during the convention, and that an effort would be made to complete action on the conference report and adjourn congress finally during the week between the republican and democratic conventions.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic leader, discounted forecasts that if congress returned after the republican convention the far of Gov. Wendell L. Hoffman would last indefinitely to consider legislation pressing for action.

He said that as soon as the tax and relief bills were on the statute books congress would adjourn regardless of the status of other legislation.

Leaders said the senate would be called into session again as soon as word of the funeral plans arrived from the house so that

ARREST OF HOFFMAN DETECTIVE LATEST MOVE WENDEL CASE

ELLIS PARKER, SR., CHARGED WITH KIDNAPING AND ASSAULTING MAN

MT. HOLLY, N. J., June 4. (P)—The arrest of Ellis Parker, Sr., chief of Burlington county detectives, on a charge of kidnaping and assaulting Paul H. Wendel, threw into the far of Gov. Wendell L. Hoffman today new responsibility in the bizarre sequel to the Lindbergh baby murder.

Whether Hoffman would grant extradition of his friend and trusted investigator to New York to face trial on Wendel's charge that he was tortured into falsely confessing the kidnapping of little Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., was a question "to the end."

The governor declared some time ago that he would not do so on the strength of information then available.

Parker was arrested last night. A grand jury in Brooklyn, N. Y., had indicted him three hours earlier.

The widely known sleuth stood blinking in amazement as the warrant was read to him. "Granted an immediate hearing in the Elks Club House, he provided $500 bail and went home to bed."

Parker said he would fight extradition "to the end."

Hoffman apprised of Parker's arrest while at a lodge initiation in Hackensack, declined to comment at this time.

Parker, Sr., was the sixth man whose indictment was obtained by District Attorney William F. X. Geoghan of Kings county (Brooklyn). Parker, Jr., is a fugitive and the others named in both bills, all Brooklyn men, are under bond.

BANKHEAD ELECTED SPEAKER OF HOUSE TO SUCCEED BYRNS

DEMOCRATIC FLOOR LEAD- ER FROM ALABAMA ELE- VATED BY COLLEAGUES

WASHINGTON, June 4. (P)—Representative William B. Bankhead of Alabama today was elected speaker of the house to succeed the late Joseph Wellington Byrns of Tennessee.

The democratic floor leader was elevated to the chair shortly after some 200 house members were called to order by the clerk, South Trimble.

Trimble announced a motion to name a speaker or speaker pro tempore was in order.

Chairman O'Connor (D-N. Y.) of the rules committee submitted the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Honorable William B. Bankhead, a representative from the state of Alabama, be and is hereby elected speaker of the house of representatives. Resolved, That the president and the senate be notified of the election of Representative Bankhead as speaker.

The resolution was adopted by a voice vote. The entire procedure consumed less than five minutes.

Members of the house stood silently with bowed heads as Trimble told the house it was his "sad and painful duty" to announce the sudden and unexpected death of the beloved Speaker Joseph W. Byrns.

After his election, Bankhead walked down the aisle. There was a scattering of applause, quickly hushed by "no, no," from the chamber.

The oath of office was administered by Rep. Sabath (D-Ill.), dean of the house.

"Crossing the Bar," read members throughout the chamber were visibly affected as the Rev. Allen A. Stockdale, in the absence of the chaplain, James Shera Montgomery, read Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar."

The chamber was crowded and the galleries well filled.

The chairman McReynolds (Tenn) of the select affairs committee, a close friend of the speaker, offered the official resolution on his death.

McReynolds lauded the late speaker as "true and loyal to his friends."

The house then adopted McReynolds' resolution formally expressing "profound sorrow," and providing for the appointment of a committee of four to make arrangements for a state funeral in the house chamber and for a committee of 60 house members.

START TESTIMONY ESKRIDGE TRIAL AT HOUSTON THURSDAY

ORANGE RADIO REPAIRMAN TELLS OF POLICE CHIEF TAKING PISTOL

HOUSTON, June 4. (P)—T. H. state, contending that the Rev. Edgar Eskridge became a self-appointed authority in Orange shortly before Police Chief O'Reilly was shot to death May 29, 1935, offered testimony today that officers were forced to disarm the minister.

At the same time, the defense drew from state witness testimony that there had been a discussion among officers as to a possible lunacy charge against Eskridge. The defense had indicated its case would be based on a plea of temporary insanity.

James Neff, Orange county attorney, testified that on the day before O'Reilly was shot down on the streets at Orange, the police chief had brought the minister to the county attorney's office for a conference.

He said the preacher, after the officers had told him he had no right to carry pistols, "seemed to be mad" and told the officers he was going to tell of the conference from the pulpit the next Sunday.

Neff quoted O'Reilly as telling the preacher he didn't care what he said in the pulpit so long as he stayed with the truth.

"Eskridge," said the county attorney on cross examination, "told us he was going to tell his congregation I played poker."

"What did you say to that," asked J. J. Collins, head of the defense. "I told him I didn't care what he said," the witness answered.

Claimed to Have Commission

Neff said Eskridge claimed to have a deputy's commission under the sheriff at Newton. The witness said the officers told the preacher that commission had expired and that it didn't give him any authority in Orange county.

The witness quoted the minister as saying that if that was the case he would quit carrying arms.

Under cross examination, Neff

QUESTIONS, ANSWERS IN CONNECTION WITH OLD AGE PENSIONS

PAYMENTS TO START JULY 1 AND AVERAGE TWENTY DOLLARS MONTHLY

AUSTIN, June 4.—(Spl.)—These are questions that the people of Texas are asking. Orville S. Carter, executive director of the old age assistance commission, answers them:

Q. When will first pension payments be made?

A. July 1.

Q. Are you sure of this?

A. Yes, because both state and federal pension money will be in the Texas treasury. Texas was granted only recently $181,250 by the United States government.

Q. How many of the aged past 65 years of age will be eligible?

A. As far as I can estimate now, there will be approximately 65,000.

Q. How much will each one receive?

A. Each one will receive up to a maximum of $30 a month, or $15 from the state and $15 from the United States. However, payments will be based upon need because of the federal social security law and the Texas law. People who do not need as much as $30 will receive less. All payments considered, the average will be around $20 to each applicant who meets the requirements of the Texas law.

Q. Does not the Texas law require that each applicant for assistance be investigated?

A. Yes.

Q. Is not the organization of the old age assistance commission based upon rules laid down by the Washington and the Texas laws?

A. Yes.

Q. Is not the entire procedure for obtaining a pension required by the Texas law and the social security board in Washington?

A. Yes.

Q. Then the method in which you handle applications for assistance is mandatory upon you because of the Texas law and rules of the social security board?

A. Yes.

Q. Is it true that some payments will be only $9 or $10 per month?

A. Yes. Payments will be based on need. It is also true that payments will be $20 per month for those whose needs require it. However, the general average will be about $20 to each old person on the pension rolls. This average is in itself not a pension, but it is the amount of old person than he or she could get if Texas had a blanket pension program of $15 a month only.

STREETMAN SCHOOLS CLOSED LAST FRIDAY AFTER GOOD YEAR

STREETMAN, June 4.—(Spl.)—School closed here Friday after a very successful year.

Seventh grade exercises were held Friday night, and an interesting program was given by the pupils.

J. K. Hawthorne, president of the school board, presented the diplomas.

The baccalaureate sermon was delivered Sunday night, May 31st, by Rev. Charles Malloy, Presbyterian pastor at Lancaster, former pastor of First Presbyterian church at Streetman.

Monday night, June 1st, the graduating exercises and presentation of diplomas was the feature. Rev. E. T. Miller, pastor First Baptist church, Corsicana, delivered a very interesting address, with J. K. Hawthorne presenting diplomas and scholars.

The senior class was composed of four girls and seven boys as follows: Evelyn Blisset, Sadie Verna Allen, Emily Steele and Kathryn Easterling; Jerry Toie, Vernon Webb Grayson, Wallace Lewis, Lee Grayson, Jr., Charles Gregory, Robert James Steele, and Billie Allen.

Work is progressing nicely on the new auditorium and class rooms and when finished Streetman will have first class, modern buildings which will be completed by the opening of the September term.

RETURNED AFRICAN MISSIONARY SPEAKS FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Dr. Royal J. Dye, a returned missionary from Africa, will give an address in the auditorium of the Christian church at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon to which the public is invited. Dr. Dye is one of the outstanding missionary speakers of today and he has spoken in Corsicana a number of times in the past.

Rev. O. W. Reece and the missionary societies of the Christian church desire to extend a special invitation to the city ministers and the missionary groups of the various churches to hear Dr. Dye. Young people and children are urged to hear him inasmuch as he has a message that will thrill the hearts of young and old alike. There will be no admission charge.

FARM CONSERVATION COMMITTEE OF TEXAS HAS BEEN APPOINTED

COLLEGE STATION, June 4.—(Spl.)—The State Agricultural Conservation Committee for 1936, consisting of seven members, has been appointed, it was recently announced by H. H. Williamson, director of the Texas Extension Service.

The committee members, who will work out problems of the Agricultural Conservation Program during the year, are as follows: A. H. Montgomery, Darrout, Texas; J. H. Watson of New Castle; V. L. Cade, Slaton; H. A. Terry, Clarksville; George Chance, Bryan; L. C. Tinsdale, Houston; and George Slaughter from Wharton.

Members of the temporary State Agricultural Conservation Committee, which has been acting during the last few weeks, consisted of L. C. Tinsdale of 1935 regis Board; George Slaughter of 1935 Corn-Hog Board; A. H. Montgomery of 1935 Wheat Board and George Chance of the 1935 Cotton Board.

LARGE ENROLLMENT IN SUMMER SCHOOL THURSDAY MORNING

At 11 o'clock Thursday morning 83 students had been enrolled in the Corsicana summer school, it was announced by J. F. Gardner, principal of the summer sessions. Mr. Gardner expected more registrations Friday morning, and stated it is likely the enrollment would total 100 by late tomorrow.

Classes are to begin Friday. The first period class will begin at 7:15 a. m. and continue until 9:15 a. m. The second period will start at 9:15 a. m. and continue until 11:15 a. m., at which time classes will be dismissed for the day.

Seventy-three of Thursday's registrations were for junior and senior high school work, and 10 more were for intermediate subject.

Some programs were filled out this morning, but others will not be filled out until time for the opening of the first period Friday. Principal Gardner asked that additional students wishing to enroll their programs made out in time to begin the first class at 7:15.

The school will continue for 45 days, with commencement scheduled for Monday, July 27.

Teachers of the school included, in addition to Mr. Gardner, principal and mathematics; Andrew Armistead, English and history; Miss Sarah Holman, English and history; H. C. Allen, Spanish; Fortney and mathematics; L. P. Roberts, shop and mathematics; S. F. Roberts, mathematics, and Miss Catherine Orr, intermediate department.

ERMA WEIDMANN AND HELEN HOLMES NAMED AS CADET TEACHERS

Miss Erma Weidmann and Miss Helen Holmes were elected cadet teachers in the Corsicana public school system at a recent meeting of the board of education. It was announced Thursday morning by Superintendent W. H. Norwood. The policy of electing cadet teachers was adopted by the system several years ago.

Miss Weidmann graduated this year from Baylor University, Waco, and Miss Holmes graduated this year from the University of Texas, Austin.

Their assignments will be given in September, at the opening of the 1936-37 school year, Superintendent Norwood stated.

TEXAS FARMERS FILL OUT 300,000 BLANKS SOIL CONSERVATION

COLLEGE STATION, June 4.—(Spl.)—Approximately 300,000 work sheets have been filled out by Texas farmers to participate in the Agricultural Conservation Program, it was estimated recently by the State Agricultural Conservation Committee upon surveying reports from county agricultural agents up to June 1.

Members of the State Committee further pointed out that the 300,000 work sheets represent about 75 per cent of all Texas farm acreage.

They said that out of 600,000 farms in the State, some 400,000 should be eligible to receive grants. It was for the purpose of giving farmers more time to sign work sheets that June 10 was set as the final date in Texas.

Attention Candidates

There will be an ice cream supper at Roane, Texas, Friday night, July 17th, for the benefit of the Post Oak Cemetery. Make your speaking dates accordingly. You will be here that night. All candidates will be given a chance to make their announcements that night.

BYRNS

The president mourned his death as that of a steadfast friend of many years.

Speaker Byrns belonged to that school of statesmen which is the hope and justification of our democracy," he said in a statement.

The president ordered all flags on government buildings at period staff, including that over the white house.

He also cancelled today's cabinet meeting and all other engagements for the day.

The hour for the state funeral was not set immediately, but it was expected to be in the morning.

Telegram From Jap Editor

Among scores of telegrams of condolence was one from Shingoro Takashi, of Osaka, editor and chief of the Oosakamainichi, whom the speaker met in Japan last year while on a trip to the Philippine Islands.

Totally unexpected heart attack followed by a cerebral hemorrhage, brought death at 12:15 a. m., E. S. T. today to the Tennessee farm boy who rose to wield the speaker's gavel during a period in which much history was made. He would have been 67 years old next July 20.

The passing of this tall and rangy pillar of his party in the turbulent hours of hard fighting between the new deal and its foes plunged the legislative situation into further uncertainty. Almost until the hour he was stricken, Byrns had labored at a tremendous pace to pass the program through congress swiftly so the session could end on Saturday if possible.

Friends believed the hard work he insisted on doing may have hastened the fatal attack. Many observers believed that, with the speaker gone, the session now may last well into next week or perhaps longer.

Word Soon Flashed

Soon after Byrns died in his room at the Mayflower Hotel, with sorrowing relatives at his side, the word flashed around the capital. Leaders decided not to notify President Roosevelt until later in the morning, but others soon were informed. Political foes, no less than close associates, were manifestly shocked.

Apparently in good health in mid-afternoon yesterday when the house adjourned early out of respect for Rep. A. Platt Andrew (R-Mass) who died at his home in Massachusetts Tuesday, Byrns returned to his hotel.

At 5:30 p. m. he suffered a heart attack. At 11 p. m., said Dr. George Calver, congressional physician, the speaker suffered a cerebral hemorrhage, and died an hour and a quarter later, without regaining consciousness.

Dr. E. M. Ellison and Col. Arthur M. Whaley of the army medical corps, had been called after the first attack. Col. Whaley, a close personal friend of Byrns, said the speaker appeared to be recovering until he suffered the hemorrhage.

Relatives Present

Those present at the deathbed were Mrs. Byrns, two brothers, M. J. Byrns of Washington and John Byrns of Cincinnati, Mrs. M. J. Byrns, Col. Whaley, Dr. Calver and Rep. McReynolds (D-Tenn.).

An attack of influenza several years ago, said Dr. Calver, had left Byrns with "a bad heart."

When word of the sudden death reached members of congress the reaction was one of great sorrow. A small group of representatives gathered at the hotel, and deeply affected, made plans for the morrow.

The house was to assemble today and quickly recess after making arrangements for a state funeral. Complete details of the arrangements were not made known immediately.

A democratic caucus later was to decide whether another speaker will be elected to finish out the last days of the 74th congress or to close the session with a speaker pro-tem.

McReynolds Deeply Affected

McReynolds, close friend and colleague of Byrns, was one of the most deeply affected. He spoke of a conference he had had with Byrns earlier in the day and said the speaker's health appeared normal.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas

"His death comes as a great surprise and shock to his friends, and particularly his associates in congress. His work during the session has been very difficult and trying. He was a great speaker. He had the respect, confidence and admiration of the members of both bodies. He was my personal friend and I exceedingly regret his passing."

Rep. Snell of New York, minority leader of the house, declared: "I am shocked beyond all imagination. It is a terrible thing. It is an almost irreparable loss."

Kept Harmony in Ranks

The shaggy-browed leader, who, upon his death had served 26 years in congress, long had had an eye on the speaker's job. The role played so vigorously by such figures as Champ Clark, Uncle Joe Cannon and Nicholas Longworth.

When on January 3, 1935, he stepped into the speaker's shoes, from the majority leadership to which he had been raised by the democratic victory of 1932, there lay behind him a long record of service on the house appropriations committee.

In his personal appearance Byrns easily fitted into the role of speaker. He was almost 6 feet, two inches tall, shaggy-browed and rugged of countenance. His eyes were friendly and his southern voice soft and rolling. His even baritone was said often to have calmed tempests which swirled about his office.

Many political foes were listed among his personal friends in the capital. Back home too, most of the folk in the seven counties that made up his fifth district must have been satisfied, for none opposed him when he ran for congress.

Byrns apparently had no desire to enter politics in the early days of his law career at Nashville. However, friends urged him to run for the state legislature in 1895, and four years later he was speaker of the house. He was elected to the state senate in 1900.

Born on Farm

By then he had left long years of hard work behind him. Born on a farm near Cedar Hill in Northern Tennessee July 20, 1869, he was the eldest of six children. The little red school house gave him his first education.

The family later moved to Nashville where Byrns went to high school and entered Vanderbilt university. During vacations he worked in the tobacco fields, but in 1890 he became a member of the bar.

It was while he was speaker of the Tennessee house that he married Miss Julia Woodward of Nashville. They had one son, Joseph W. Jr.

Byrns became ill in 1930 shortly after laying campaign plans to capture his party's nomination for United States senator. The illness forced him to quit, but he later won renomination for the house from his old "Hermitage district," which took its name from the homestead of Andrew Jackson. He was re-elected and remained in the house until his death.

Long House Member

Power as speaker of the national house of representatives, came to Joseph W. Byrns when the 74th congress convened January 3, 1935. Back of him was a full quarter century as a member of the house from the "Hermitage district" of Tennessee, a tenure which saw him go through a dozen successful political campaigns and which brought him chairmanship of the house appropriations committee, leadership of the democratic majority and head of the democratic congressional campaign committee.

"Uncle Joe" to his constituents, he was a shrewd politician, a masterful parliamentary strategist and a fair-minded chairman and presiding officer whose personal qualities won praise from political opponents.

He was a lawyer by profession, an avid reader of history, biography and detective stories and a fisherman whenever a let-up in his work allowed him to indulge in that pastime. He liked to travel by airplane.

Marked By Barber's Joke

Close to 6 feet, 2 inches tall, he was rangy and soft-voiced. Rugged features were accentuated by beetling, shaggy eyebrows that lent themselves to caricature. The eyebrows were the result of a practical joke played on Byrns in his youth when he went to sleep in a barber's chair after asking for "a clean shave." The razor wielder carried out the request to the letter. The eyebrows grew out bushy and, as Byrns' son said in later years, "marked him for life."

Byrns' service on the pivotal appropriations committee began early in his congressional career, which started in March, 1899. By the time that the election of Woodrow Wilson brought his party control of the national government, Byrns was near the top of the democratic membership of the committee and in the world war he was chairman of the sub-committee which guided the huge war appropriations through the house.

Byrns was made chairman of the national democratic congressional campaign in 1920 and it was a matter of pride to him that it was under his leadership that his party regained control of the house.

Politics opened a natural pathway to the acquaintanceship needed by a lawyer and Byrns, four years after he began practice, was elected to the state legislature. He served three successive to attend the funeral in Nashville.

The new speaker appointed Representative Connor (D-N. Y.), Taylor (D-Colo.), McReynolds and Snell (R-N. Y.) as the committee on arrangements.

The house then adjourned at 11:17 a. m., just 17 minutes after convening.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—(P)—William Brockman Bankhead, elevated to the speakership of the house of representatives today to terms in the house from 1895 to 1900, being speaker in his third term, then went to the state senate for one term. A campaign for district attorney general of Davidson county in 1902 ended in defeat, the only time he was beaten at the polls.

Byrns was a presidential elector in 1904 and in 1908 became a candidate for congress. He had to defeat a redoubtable campaigner, John Wesley Gains, to win the nomination, but turned the trick, carried the November election and took his seat in the national house March 4, 1909.

Tennessee Sorrowful

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 4.—(P)—Tennessee learned sorrowfully today of the death of Joseph Wellington Byrns, who started in politics in the state legislature and became speaker of the national house of representatives.

Gov. Hill McAllister was one of the first to express his regret. "His death will be a great loss to the whole country as well as to the state of Tennessee," the governor said.

"Joe Byrns was one of the best representatives in congress this state has ever had, said Mayor Hilary E. Howse. "I feel so bad about this news. We all loved him so."

succeed Joseph W. Byrns, halls from the West Alabama "hill country."

Born April 12, 1874, near Moscow, Ala., he was the second son of John Hollis Bankhead and Tallulah Bankhead. His birthplace was a farm to which his father returned after service as a captain under the Confederacy.

"Will," as he is known by friends, went to the University of Alabama and played football on its first football team. He won the University medal for oratory.

His father was well along the legislative path which one day two of his sons were to follow.

After finishing at Alabama, Will joined the elder—then a member of the national house—and entered Georgetown University here to study.

He became class president.

With a law degree and a lot of ambition, Bankhead set out for New York City to hang out his shingle. He joined up with Tammany Hall.

Goodlooking and conceded to have unusual dramatic talent, he all but scrapped his legal training for the stage while in the big city. A theatre manager offered him a job and he was about to take it, when his mother frowned.

Daughter Actress

It is said Bankhead vowed then that if any of his own children ever wanted to tread the boards, he would not oppose them. In later years his favorite actress was his daughter, Tallulah, a name passed down from the tragic heroine of an Indian legend and now known from Hollywood to Broadway and London.

There was a special affinity between father and daughter because of her sympathetic support of her stage aspirations and her pride in dad's political achievements.

Homestead for the Alabama hill. Bankhead returned from New York to Huntsville and married Ada Eugenia Seale of Memphis. He met his first tragedy in the death of his beautiful young wife, who left him two baby daughters, Tallulah and Eugenia.

He moved to his mother's home in Jasper and entered a law partnership with his brother, the present Senator John H. Bankhead. Will became increasingly active in the ranks of the party. In Huntsville he had been sent to the state legislature and served as city attorney and circuit solicitor.

Later he married Miss Florence McGuire of Jasper.

Ran Against Oliver

In 1914 Bankhead entered the congressional race against William B. Oliver, the Alabamian who placed his name before the Democratic caucus of the 74th congress for floor leader.

"Buck," as Oliver is known to his friends, whipped Will. But during the next two years the Alabama legislature cut off a part of Oliver's district and created the seventh.

In the following election Bankhead was sent to Washington and is the only representative of the seventh ever had.

When Will entered the house his father was in the senate. It was no unusual occurrence for the senate and house gavels to fall with a simultaneous bang, each wielded by a Bankhead, father and son.

In later years, after the death of the senior father, John H. Bankhead, Jr., succeeded him in the senate.

The brothers have often presided on the same day on either side of the capitol in recent months.

No Democratic Caucuses

WASHINGTON, June 4.—(P)—House Democratic leaders decided

TAX BILL

an adjournment could be taken until the hour of the funeral service tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—(P)—Temperatures were rising in both branches of congress as the senate gathered again today with the long fight over taxes on undistributed profits, hottest issue in the revenue bill, still undecided.

Whether the fight would be continued today or whether the senate would recess quickly because of the death of Speaker Byrns was not immediately known. If it should recess the tax debate would be renewed tomorrow.

A three-sided struggle was coming to a head. Senator La Follette (Prog-Wis.) prepared to make a two-hour speech in an attempt to swing the senate closer to stiff temporary levies on undistributed corporate income, which also have been sought by the Roosevelt administration.

Senator Lewis of Illinois, Democrat, in a hurried conference today to elect a speaker, or speaker pro-tem, immediately after the house convenes at 11 a. m. (E. S. T.) with the clerk presiding.

This decision meant there would be no party caucus to decide the important question of naming a new speaker candidate. Representative Bankhead of Alabama, the democratic leader, was virtually assured of election to the chair to finish out the session.

ocratic whip, prepared on the other hand, to introduce a motion to send the whole bill back to committee and defer consideration of taxes until next year.

But powerful segments of the senate were behind the senate bill in its present form, and leaders hoped to pass it quickly and send it along to the house, which already has approved a measure much more in line with President Roosevelt's desires.

But in the house there were rumblings of trouble to come. Legislators heard reports that President Roosevelt may compromise, and swing toward the senate bill, which would mean that salient features of the house measure, for which New Dealers in that chamber had fought long and hard, might be scrapped.

ROOSEVELT

"By a happy coincidence he represented for more than a quarter of a century the Hermitage district of Tennessee, a district of sentimental significance because it holds the sacred dust of Andrew Jackson and there was about Speaker Byrns a simplicity and rugged honesty which we have come to associate with the name of Jackson."

"Fearless, incorruptible, unselfish, with a high sense of justice, wise in counsel, broad of vision, calm in adversity and modest in victory, he served his state and the nation with fidelity, honor and great usefulness."

"I personally mourn the passing of a steadfast friend of many years."

QUESTIONS THAT ARE ASKED ABOUT BANKING

Why is public confidence so important to a bank?

There are two main reasons why public confidence is so important to a bank.

In the first place people must have confidence in a bank before they will deposit their money. This means confidence in the honesty, integrity and ability of the bank officers, plus the belief that sound, efficient methods are used in its management.

Secondly, public confidence is important because it gives the bank assurance of stable deposits. This, in turn, enables the bank to loan or invest its funds for reasonable periods in sound business undertakings. It is the revenue from these loans and investments which makes it possible for the bank to pay its operating costs, build up reserves and pay stockholders a fair return on their invested capital.

The officers of this bank have justifiable pride in the widespread public confidence it enjoys in this community.

CORSICANAN INJURED IN FALL FROM LADDER IN PALESTINE STORE

Murray Robinson, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gulick Robinson, 414 North Twenty-first street, assistant manager of the Safeway Food Store, Palestine, was seriously injured in a fall there Monday. According to stories appearing in Palestine papers, Robinson fell backward from a ladder in the store and was rendered unconscious.

He was brought to the home of his parents and was reported to have regained consciousness and was resting nicely today.

It was thought that Robinson's neck was broken but a later report from the I.G.N. Employees Hospital was that doctors had been unable to find any fracture.

An hour and a half before his fall Robinson had been visiting at the store by Charlie Robinson, 52, salesman for the Robinson-Murphy Corporation, Palestine wholesale firm. The two men with the same names were no relation.

Shortly after leaving the store, the elder Robinson narrowly escaped serious injury by leaping from his truck when the machine was struck by a train coach, while cars were being switched on the tracks.

For Congress.
To the voters of the sixth congressional district, composed of Ellis, Hill, Navarro, Freestone, Limestone, Leon, Robertson and Brazos counties:

I take this means of announcing through the columns of the Corsicana Semi-Weekly Light my candidacy for Representative in Congress of this district. Being a young man, 30 years of age, with no previous political experience, I am a stranger to most of the voters. I submit this brief biography of my life and a concise statement of my political beliefs and principles in order that the voters can more intelligently pass upon my candidacy.

I am a native of Limestone county and a resident of Thornton, Texas. I attended Meridian College, Trinity University and Southwestern University, working in my father's gin during the ginning season in order to defray my school expenses. I was graduated from the latter school in 1928, having majored in political science. For the past five years I have taught school in Limestone county, the three years of which were spent in the Groesbeck school, in which capacity I have been recently re-elected for the 1936-1937 term.

During the time I was not engaged in teaching school since graduation from college, I have managed the Cook Bros. gin at Groesbeck, where my experience and contact with the farmers have familiarized myself with their problems.

I am a member of the Christian church and have been active both religiously and socially in the communities in which I have resided. I welcome an investigation on the part of every voter as to my character and qualifications and willingly refer those with whom I am not now acquainted to any of my friends or acquaintances throughout the district. My platform is one of common sense and simplicity—one that is old fashioned and yet modern—old fashioned in that it preserves the rights of the states and upholds the constitution—modern in that it applies these principles to conform with the demands of the present complex government.

I am in sympathy with the American farmer and, if elected, will be ever mindful of his problems. I favor federal aid for the impoverished farmer at a lower rate of interest spread over a reasonable period of time in order that this class of farmer may be saved from bankruptcy. Such a program could be more successfully carried out if the red tape is eliminated from the present set-up and the local officials enabled to act with more promptness in taking care of the natural demands of the farmers. Assistance from the government is often received too late to be of any appreciable value.

I favor the rural electrification program now being instituted throughout the country by the federal government. I believe that such a program could be made available to the farmers of this section by the construction of a dam and hydro-electric plant on the Brazos river. This would serve a two-fold purpose: namely, flood control for the farms in the Brazos valley and electric power for farm homes. Due to the technical involvements of such a project, I have not yet had time to thoroughly investigate its practicability but am firmly convinced that such a program is plausible. I shall give the matter my attention and have more to say with reference to it later on in the campaign.

I favor an adequate state and federal old age pension. I favor legislation which will substantially care for disabled veterans. Being a school teacher by profession and familiar with the problems and needs of the present day schools, I am in favor of financial assistance to the schools from the federal government to the end that better scholastic opportunities may be offered the youth of the land. Such a program would of necessity involve the adequate support of teachers through the payment of salaries more commensurate with their costly training and the great service they render the state. I believe that a congressman should devote his time toward discharging his constitutional duties instead of devising ways and means of obligating his constituents to vote for him. I also favor more intimate relations with the masses of the people.

If elected, I shall enter office with clean hands and no previous political experience, I have created no political obligations and, if elected, I shall enter upon the responsibilities of this high office as a free man, bound to no one and under no influence other than to render honest and efficient service.

I shall appreciate hearing from any voter in this congressional district.

Sincerely,
NOBLE COOK,
Thornton, Texas.

Keep a Good Laxative always in your home

Among the necessities of home is a good, reliable laxative. Don't be without one! Do your best to prevent constipation. Don't neglect it when you feel any of its disagreeable symptoms coming on.

"We have used Black-Draught for 21 years and have found it a very useful medicine that every family ought to have in their home," writes Mrs. Perry Ricks, of Belton, Texas.

"Black-Draught for biliousness, constipation and other ills where a good laxative or purgative is needed. I have always found Black-Draught gives good results."

CONSTRUCTION ON RURAL EXTENSIONS STARTED BY TP&L

WORK EXPECTED BE COMPLETED IN NEXT FIFTEEN OR TWENTY DAYS

Construction on rural extensions of the Texas Power and Light Company distribution system in Corsicana was started Wednesday morning and will be completed in about fifteen to twenty days according to Ted B. Ferguson, district manager for the company.

Work started today on the line from the end of the boulevard in West Corsicana and will extend south to the nine-foot slab to Oak Valley, follow that road to the Little farm and then branch; one of the feeders will serve the school, church, and adjoining places, while the other will turn back to the Corbett road and follow that highway about four miles to the Love and Owens farms. Total length of the extension will be about five and a half miles.

As soon as the western extension is completed, work will be started on one along Highway 75 north of Corsicana, beginning at a point near the Log Cabin tourist camp, and extending to a point just north of the American Legion park and then turning in an easterly direction to reach several homes in that area.

Mr. Ferguson pointed out that the Texas Power and Light Company were the pioneers in the field of rural electrification, and that much of the equipment used in the installation of service were designed originally by the company engineers, and the designs later adopted by major manufacturers.

The present extensions are expected to serve more than twenty-five rural homes.

Two Broadcasts To Mark Opening Texas Centennial

NEW YORK, June 2.—(P)—Two broadcasts are to be coupled with Saturday's opening of the Texas Centennial Exposition at Dallas. One will be in the afternoon via CBS and the other at night on WEAF-NBC.

The CBS program, to run an hour, will include Vice President Garner and other Texas sons as speakers, as well as the round the world signal which is officially to open the gates.

The night broadcast on WEAF-NBC for 30 minutes will come from 12 points about the grounds and will be a general description of the exposition.

Former Judge Dies.
WICHITA FALLS, June 3.—(P)—Judge C. E. Funder, 62, former Wichita county judge and resident of Wichita Falls for more than 40 years, died here today.

Painting Poles On Highway 75 Thru Corsicana

Another step in the beautification of Highway 75 through Corsicana was started Wednesday afternoon when work was started on the painting of all poles along the thoroughfare with aluminum paint.

One painter was scheduled to start on the task during the afternoon and a full crew is to join him Thursday, with the job to be completed by noon Saturday. The poles are to be painted up to a height of eight feet uniformly.

Numerous improvements have been made by private individuals and firms along the highway recently, and the special promotion committee which has been encouraging the work was scheduled to meet Wednesday afternoon for an inspection tour and further planning.

The poles will be painted from the intersection of highways 22 and 14 to the underpass north of the city.

Places on Ticket Decided Monday In Dallas Meeting

AUSTIN, June 3.—(P)—Vann M. Kennedy, secretary of the state democratic executive committee, announced today the committee would meet in Dallas Monday to certify names of candidates in the first party primary, July 25.

Thirty-nine candidates filed for places on the ballot for all state offices. All incumbents seeking reelection were opposed except Lieut.-Gov. Walter Wood of Houston, Chief Justice C. M. Cureton and Associate Justice Richard Critz of the supreme court and Judge O. S. Lattimore of the court of criminal appeals.

HUNTRESS ASSURED NEW TRIAL CHARGE OF MISAPPLICATION

FORMER BEXAR COUNTY CLERK'S CASE REVERSAL WILL STAND

AUSTIN, June 3.—(P)—George W. Huntress, Jr., former Bexar county clerk, was assured a new trial on a charge of misapplication of county funds when the Court of Criminal Appeals today overruled the State's motion for a rehearing on his appeal.

The court previously had reversed the conviction on the grounds that the trial judge gave an improper instruction on accomplice witnesses. A two-year prison term was assessed Huntress.

The appellate tribunal reversed the conviction of Harry Goldman in Gregg county for conspiracy to bribe a witness against him in an oil theft case. The court had affirmed the case but it decided on rehearing that reversible error was committed.

The court said that private prosecutor John Storey during his final arguments, addressed a question to the defendant, and held that the effect of this question was to comment on the defendant's failure to testify.

Goldman had been assessed a two-year term.

The court ruled that constables and other peace officers were without authority under a truck overloading statute to force operators to have their machines weighed.

Appeal of H. R. Head from a $1 fine assessed in Johnson county upon conviction of violating the statute raised the issues. He was charged with refusing to comply with requests of Constable Homer Hunt of Grandview to return to a town for weighing of the truck.

Reversing and remanding the case, the court concurred in contentions of the state's attorney that the act conferred upon license and weight inspectors of the highway department the authority to require drivers and operators to have the machines weighed and constables and other peace officers of the state are without such authority.

Wallace Would Reduce Benefits Large Producers

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(P)—The senate agriculture committee today approved an amendment to the soil conservation act to restrict large benefit payments.

The committee authorized a subcommittee to report the amendment to the senate floor after receipt of a letter from Secretary Wallace recommending restrictions on lease benefit payments.

Wallace's suggestion was similar to a recommendation yesterday by President Roosevelt.

The amendment was included by the subcommittee in a bill by Senator Hatch (D-NM) to extend the soil conservation act to the public domain. It would make possible benefit payments for soil conservation agreements in connection with grazing of sheep and cattle on the public domain.

The graduated rate of benefit payments approved by the subcommittee would reduce benefits by 1 per cent on payments from $2,000 to $3,000; decreasing an additional 1 per cent for each $1,000 up to $5,000 with a 50 per cent cut in payments above that point.

Wallace's recommendation, made in a letter to Chairman Smith (D-SC) was in line with President Roosevelt's message yesterday to Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) suggesting legislation to restrict large payments.

Senator Hatch (D-NM) immediately summoned a subcommittee to consider the Wallace suggestions.

Wallace specifically recommended that benefit payments over $2,000 be reduced 1 per cent, those over $3,000 be reduced 2 per cent, and those above that point be reduced 1 per cent for every individual $1,000 up to $5,000. At that point all additional payments would be reduced 50 per cent.

Martins Invited Opening Events of Texas Centennial

Mr. and Mrs. Lowry Martin have received a telegram invitation to be guests of the Texas Centennial Exposition, Saturday, June 6, for a day of social events in celebration of the opening of the Central Exposition.

Daniel C. Roper, secretary of Commerce and personal representative of President Roosevelt, and Mrs. Roper of Washington, will be honored on Saturday.

In addition to participating in the parade prior to the opening of the Exposition, Mr. and Mrs. Martin will be guests for luncheon and dinner given by the Exposition in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Roper. Those attending these events will be members of the official family of the Exposition and their wives.

Luncheon for the ladies will be held at the Centennial Club on the grounds at 1:30 and dinner will be at the Dallas Women's club at 6 o'clock. The men will be entertained for luncheon at the Streets of Paris and dinner in the Crystal Ball room of the Baker Hotel at 6 o'clock.

Mr. Roper is making a special trip to Texas to officiate at the opening of the Exposition. President and Mrs. Roosevelt will be guests on June 12, at which time an elaborate entertainment will be given in their honor.

BENEATH GNARLED OLIVES, GREAT SOUL MET SUPREME TEST *

In the Dark Wood of Gethsemane, Jesus Surrendered to Will of Father ---- The Garden That Symbolizes Soul - Tragedy.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

Only yesterday I saw for the first time the Antioch Chalice, the vessel which many persons believe to have been the Holy Grail, the cup from which Jesus and His disciples drank at their last supper together, and at the institution of the Lord's Supper. Experts agree that the Antioch Chalice dates back to the first century; that it was even then an object of reverence is shown by the care taken to protect it by an elaborately embossed outer casing, bearing the figures of Jesus and His apostles. The Chalice was a central attraction at the Chicago Exposition; and of late it has been on exhibition at the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia.

No other Christian relic stirs such emotions as this Chalice. If it is indeed the Cup of the Last Supper, the warm, living lips of the world's Redeemer touched it. His right hand was wont to hold His supreme ordeal. Doubtless, it was the thought of the Cup of Communion, uppermost in the Master's mind, which shaped His Gethsemane prayer that the other "cup" might pass from His lips. The mystery surrounding the Antioch Chalice is not so great as the mystery of the other cup, concerning which Christ prayed, "Father, if Thou be willing, remove this cup from Me."

What was in that "Cup"? Thoughtless persons speak of every period of personal suffering and grief as a "Gethsemane." That is to use a great word too lightly. We cannot even know of a surety what Jesus meant by the "cup" which He prayed the Father to remove from His lips. The theme holds a mystery, to be approached with uttermost reverence.

On the surface, it would seem that Jesus was saying, "But I would be a denial of all of His life's purposes. He had seen the cross from afar; had talked of it at Caesarea Philippi and had alluded to it again and again. For that purpose He had come into the world, and Jesus was not one to shrink from a duty, however difficult.

Some have advanced the theory that Jesus feared His physical powers might collapse before He could go through with His redemptive work; and yet His prayer was for strength to carry on to the end.

Others have heard in that bitter cry in Gethsemane the agony of a Saviour heart, burdened with the sins of the world, and agonized for the moment, for the face of the Father. In some strange fashion, there was a conflict between the will of the human Jesus and the will of God. We cannot understand the full meaning of the Gethsemane agony; but we know it entailed in surrender to the Father's will. "Not my will, but Thine" is the message of that midnight passion. Renunciation and Resignation are the twin leaves of the Garden Gate.

Ellis Wheeler Wilcox wrote a famous poem on the Gethsemane theme which sees into the deeper significance of the ordeal: "All those who journey, soon or late, Must pass within the garden's gate; Must kneel alone in darkness there And battle with some fierce despair. God pity those who cannot say, 'Not mine, but Thine'; who only pray 'Let this cup pass,' and cannot see. The purpose in Gethsemane."

A Traveller's Memories. Often I have traversed the Mount of Olives, which, across the little ravine of Kidron, confronts Jerusalem on the East and lies in from a view of the Jordan Valley and the mountains of Boab beyond. Beneath a blazing noonday sun, and under the silver glow of a midnight moon, I have mused amidst the gray olive trees, such as sheltered our Lord on this very spot. There are now three enclosures called Gethsemane by the Greeks, Armenians and Latins; but it is this last that is most favored by reverent tourists. The exact spot makes no difference; somewhere within a few hundred yards, the great Ordeal was undergone by the Man of Sorrows.

One of my forebodings as I contemplate the possibility of another trip to Palestine is that the old Franciscan monk who has kept the Latin Garden of Gethsemane ever since I have known it, may not be there to greet me. He was showing signs of age when last I saw him, and his post as custodian of the sumptuous new church, which has of late years been built in the Garden, does not seem to suit him. He is too good a monk to protest any assignment; but I thought him unhappy. His life and love was working in the Garden, amidst the trees and the flowery. I shall never forget the hurt look in his eyes when I once asked him if he really thought the oldest of the eight gnarled olives, known as the Tree of Agony, was the veritable one under which our Lord suffered. "Vraiment, Monsieur, vraiment," he replied, with deep earnestness. That ancient tree has since fallen, and my Franciscan friend gave me a piece of it, which I had made up into crosses for friends. I am fingering one as I write, for I wear it as a watch-charm.

When A Man Is Alone. Even the Master was mistaken when He thought He could share His supreme sorrow with His closest friends. For Gethsemane, rather than Calvary, is deemed the acutest hour of the agony of Jesus. He took His whole company of disciples to the hillside of Olive; and the three intimates He bade follow Him into the recesses of this Garden. But He had to go on alone, and they slept.

In uttermost experience of the soul, every one is solitary. Jesus had to tread the winepress alone. Like Him, we may reach out for human sympathy in life's bitterest experience, but in vain. Others do not understand. Our best friends sleep, though in sorrow, while we undergo our Gethsemane. In this solitude there is strength and dignity. Jesus was fortified in His lonely agony as no earthly comrade could strengthen Him.

BRITISH BUDGET TRIBUNAL HOLDS THOMAS GUILTY

RESIGNED COLONIAL SECRETARY DISCLOSED SECRET; USE MADE BY TWO

LONDON, June 2.—(P)—The budget tribunal announced today it found J. H. Thomas, resigned colonial secretary, had disclosed the secrets of the British budget previous to publication in the house of commons. The tribunal report stated there was an unauthorized disclosure of the budget information by Thomas, and that use was made of this information by two men for the purpose of private gain. The two men named were Alfred Bates, advertising agency executive, and Sir Alfred Butt, a member of parliament and horse racing enthusiast.

"It's a cruel verdict. Thank God my son was exonerated," Thomas declared when he heard of the findings. He seemed dazed as the son, Leslie, handed him a whiskey and soda and then flung his arm affectionately over his father's shoulder.

Sir Alfred authorized his secretary to declare he had no statement to make. The tribunal, headed by Justice Porter, cleared all civil employees and printers and all cabinet ministers save Thomas of having disclosed any knowledge of the budget secrets.

The tribunal cleared the former colonial secretary's son, Leslie M. Thomas, of all blame, expressing the unanimous opinion he neither knew nor suspected Bates had improper information on the budget secrets.

(Leslie Thomas, as an insurance broker, conducted business with Bates when the latter bought insurance against tax increases announced in the government's budget.)

Thomas, Sir Alfred and Bates all denied from the witness stand that they had discussed budget secrets. The tribunal said there was "not a shred of evidence" suggesting that anyone save Thomas was guilty of disclosing the secrets, which provided Britain's major political scandal of the generation.

"We think it right and in the public interest that our view in this respect should be openly and plainly affirmed," the report added. Veracity of the testimony of Thomas, Bates and Sir Alfred was attacked in scathing language by

HOFFMAN REFUSES NAME SCHWARZKOPF POLICE HEAD AGAIN

NEW JERSEY GOVERNOR CAPS HIS LINDBERGH CASE ACTIVITY

TRENTON, N. J., June 2.—(P)—Governor Harold G. Hoffman capped his criticism of the Lindbergh kidnap-murder investigation by denouncing Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf as superintendent of the New Jersey police—a force he organized and led for 15 years.

The governor sent to the senate the name of Col. Mark O. Kimberling, state prison warden and once Schwarzkopf's deputy. Kimberling was named to succeed the man who directed the police search which ended in the arrest, conviction and execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann as the Lindbergh baby slayer. Kimberling supervised the execution. Some observers believed strong sentiment in the state for Schwarzkopf's re-appointment was evidenced by petitions from farm groups and women's clubs, and individual demands by private citizens.

Administration-supporting senators and the governor's own associates were confident, however, Kimberling would be confirmed. They said the governor had been assured of the necessary 11 votes before forwarding the appointment.

Opposition was expected from members of the democratic minority, and from a few anti-administration republicans. Whether they were strong enough to prevent confirmation was uncertain.

The tribunal. "It seems improbable," the report stated relative to one statement by the former colonial secretary. Even stronger language was used in reference to what the report termed discrepancies in the testimony of Bates and Sir Alfred. Bates in our view was guilty of misstating and suppressing the truth," it said.

FRIVOLOUS FRED DUBOSE FIRES SHOT TO FRIGHTEN TURKEY BUT FOOLIN' IS FATAL FOR GOBBLER

This is a story in which a turkey gobbler lays down his life—a victim of poor marksmanship. Principals of the cast other than the dead bird include the great and only Fred Archibald DuBose, valuable and loyal advertising executive of the Corsicana Daily Sun—an automobile and a twenty-two rifle. A rabbit has a minor part—yet this bunny, with a yen for garden truck—caused it all.

The moon was bright, Nimrod DuBose armed with his trusty twenty-two took a stand with the idea in view to discourage this garden prowling rabbit.

All was well but the rabbit failed to make its appearance. Eagle Eye DuBose started to search for a target. He spied a turkey gobbler, large in size, serenely sleeping the sleep of the just, atop the family automobile.

That the turkey must be moved from the automobile roosting place was agreed upon after a family council. Straight shootin' Fredy decided he would fire a shot close to the sleeping bird so it would move under its own power without further effort.

Careful aim was taken by the sharp shooter and the shot was fired. Mr. Turkey moved, hit the ground and after a few faint flops was painfully still.

Investigation showed that Fred, The Flower of the Ranch, had drilled Mr. Turkey directly through the heart.

Zioncheck Checked at Last

After Representative Marion Zioncheck of Seattle, Wash., dragged Mrs. Benjamin S. Young, his landlady, from his Washington apartment, the bad boy of Congress wasn't even given a chance to dress before police took him to jail (after a tussle). The detective at the right doesn't seem to be particularly impressed by the erratic solon. Mrs. Young claims that her hip was fractured during the melee. Zioncheck was freed on bail.

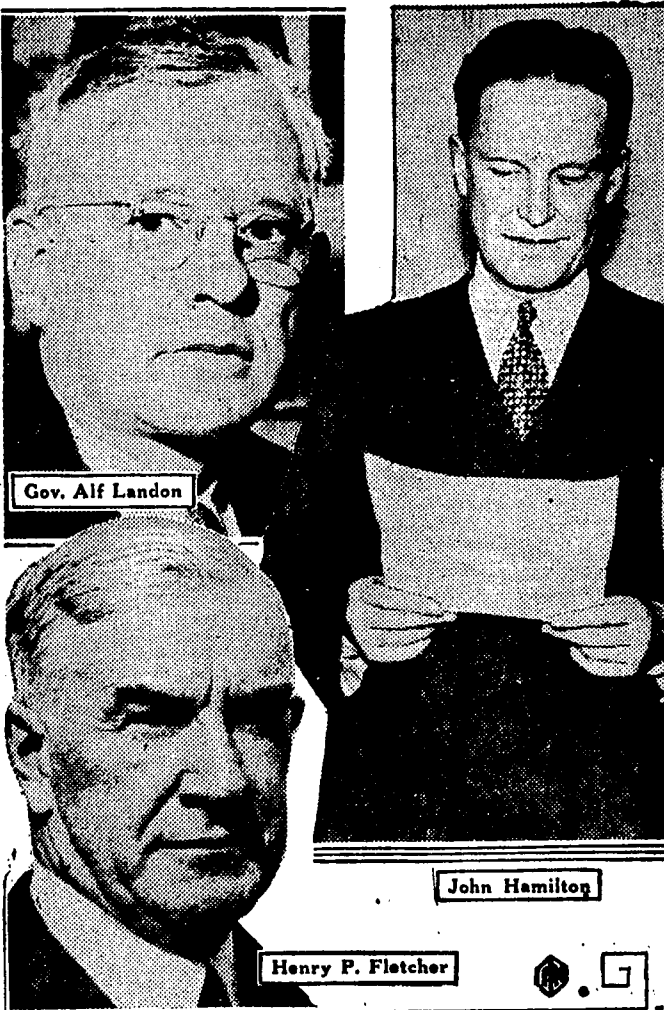

Freddie's Dad Here

Cecil L. Bartholomew

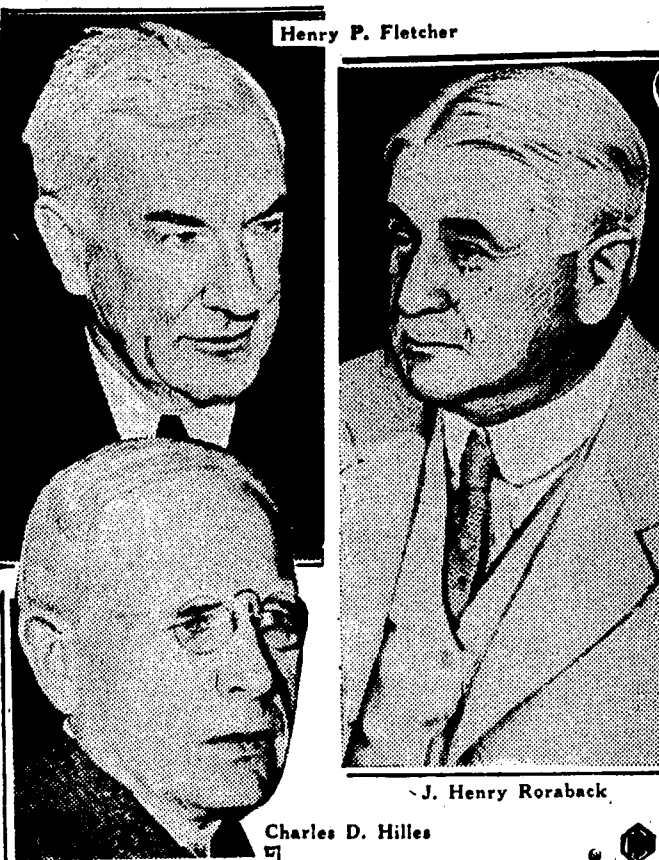

Cecil L. Bartholomew, father of Freddie Bartholomew, child screen star, is pictured in New York, following his arrival from England. The elder Bartholomew is en route to California to join in the court battle being waged between the child's mother and aunt over the boy-actor's custody.

Kansan Looms as G.O. P. Farley

The increasing intensity with which the national political spotlight is turning on Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas is serving to bring into corresponding prominence the figure of John Hamilton, Landon campaign manager. Hamilton, a Topeka, Kas., attorney, began his political career with election to the Kansas assembly in 1925 where he served as speaker of the house for two years. He was state committee chairman from 1930 until 1932 when he was elected national committeeman. It was his outstanding work in building up the young Republican organization of Kansas, however, which won him the attention of national G. O. P. leaders. It is now widely predicted that nomination of Landon would mean election of Hamilton to the post of national chairman, replacing Henry P. Fletcher. Whether or not this comes about, it is a certainty that Hamilton will be an important figure at the national convention in Cleveland in June.

"Old Guard" Marshalls Forces

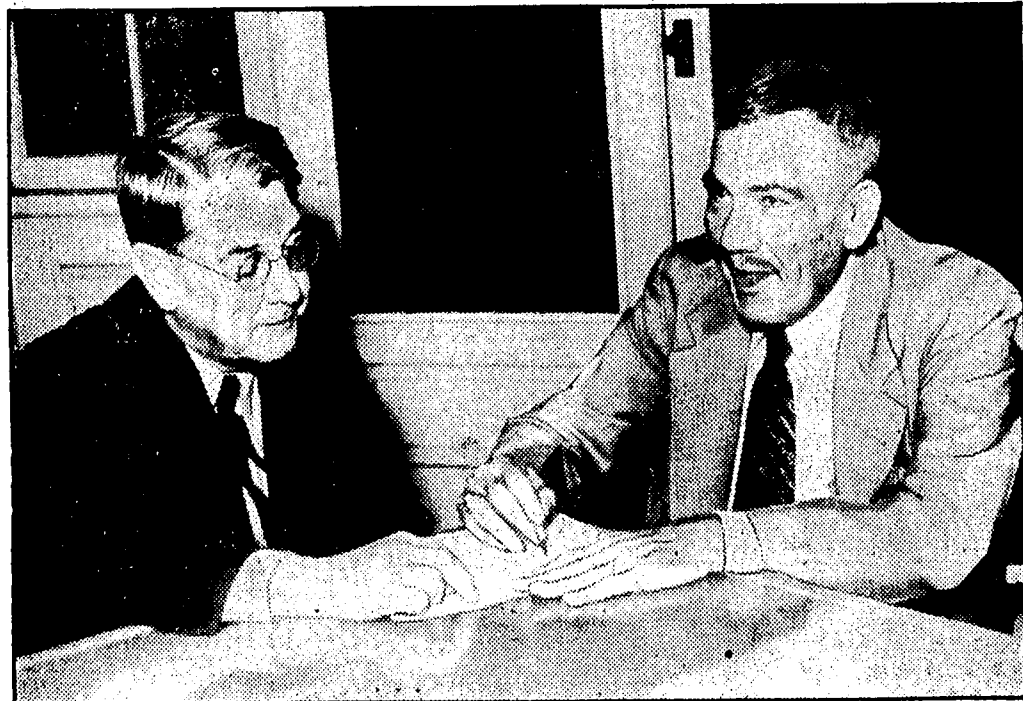

While rumors circulate regarding possible "rejuvenation" of the Republican party, signs of the times, such as the recent political triumphs in Connecticut of J. Henry Roraback, indicate that the G. O. P. Old Guard is in little danger of being dethroned when the party's national convention convenes in Cleveland on June 9. Allied with Roraback, who was just elected state central committee chairman for his fourteenth term and returned as member of the national committee for the fifth time, are Charles Hilles of New York and Henry P. Fletcher, national committee chairman. The Hilles-Roraback faction is estimated to control about 150 votes at the coming convention. They are traditionally allied with "big business" and are looked on as leaders of the opposition to any movement which may try and institute a "Republican New Deal."

Victim of Louisiana's Jailbreak Tragedy

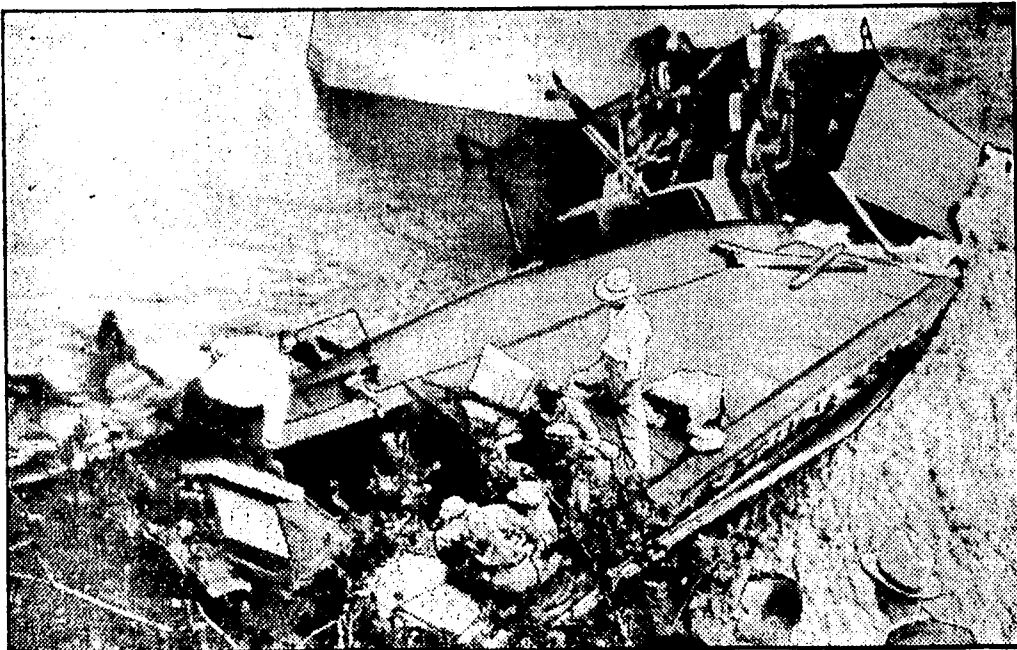

Guard Tom J. Fluitt is shown as fellow-officers placed him on a stretcher after he had been mangled by a buckshot blast fired by nervous prison guards searching for a lifer who had slain a prison captain and his wife at Angola, La. Fluitt died soon after this picture was taken. A 17-year-old farm boy also was killed by the posse. Wilfred Lindsley, the fugitive, was tracked down with bloodhounds and shot to death.

CALLES WARNS OF 'GROWING COMMUNISM' IN MEXICO

BAGGAGE CAR PLUNGES INTO RIVER; TWO DEAD

Braving the rain-swollen Cimarron river near Guthrie, Okla., rescue workers are shown as they worked with blow torches and heavy tools to recover the bodies of two men imprisoned in the baggage car of a passenger train hurtled into the stream. The bodies of Raymond McNulty, Guthrie, and Leonard F. Guiff, Independence, Mo., were found in the splintered wreckage. (Associated Press Photo)

Opens Pools

Frances Nalle, "Bluebonnet Girl" hostess of the Texas Centennial Exposition which opens in Dallas June 6, formally opened the city's swimming pools for the summer.

High Hats for a Texas Swim

Those Rangerettes of the Texas Centennial Exposition, which will open in Dallas June 6, can't seem to go anywhere without their 10-gallon hats. Here are five of them trying out an already completed Exposition swimming pool behind the $5,000,000 Midway.

Carolina Queen

When students of North Carolina university at Chapel Hill selected their 1936 campus queen they loyally voted for a Carolina beauty, Miss Nan Norman, above, who was officially crowned "the prettiest co-ed."

ZIONCHECK EJECTS HIS LANDLADY

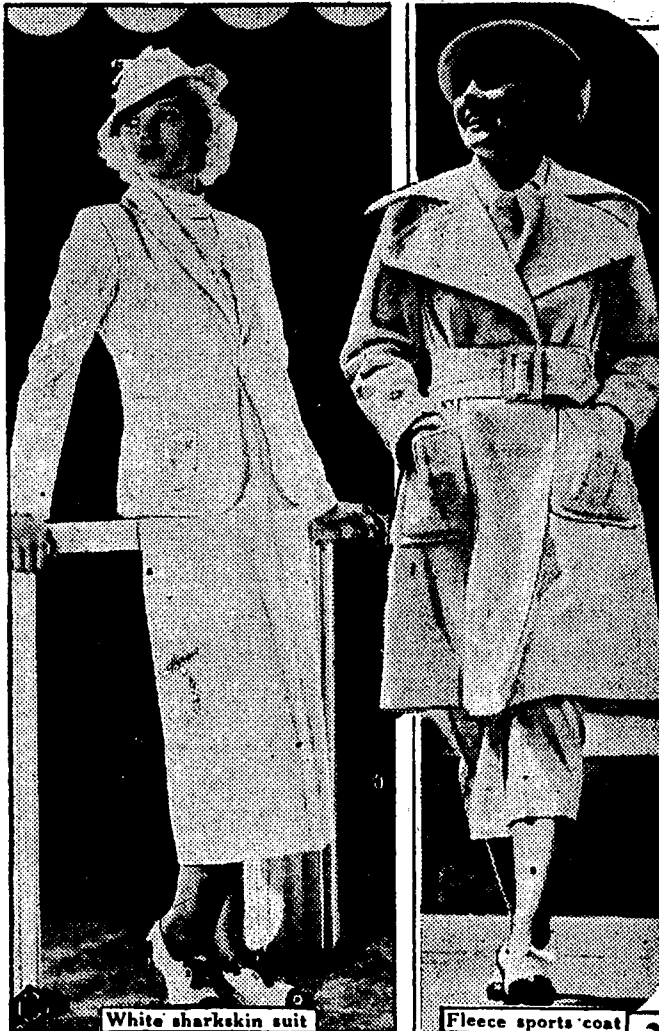

Encouraged by his recent bride, Rep. Marion Zioncheck (D-Wash.), he shown as he pulled Mrs. Benjamin S. Young, his landlady, from the doorway of the Washington apartment he leased from her. The midnight melee followed heated words. Mrs. Young was asked in plain language to "get out" or "be put out." The two put her out. Mrs. Young was taken to a hospital where it was said she had a fractured hip. (Associated Press Photo)

Plan Delivery of Bonus Bonds

Special arrangements for mailing of veterans' bonus bonds, which will be posted the night of June 15, were made when Postmaster Vincent E. Burke, seated, of Washington, conferred with veterans' leaders on plans to insure speedy delivery.

White Favored Shade for Summer

White steps away ahead as the smart shade worn this summer. And there's something particularly seasonal and ultra smart about white suits and coats. A suit of white sharkskin is modeled above by Lucille Ball, recently named as one of the best-dressed Hollywood starlets. The mannish jacket has a tailored collar and the tucked linen blouse is graced by a turtle-neck line. For cruising, yachting or riding the white coat comes into its own, one of the smartest of the new designs—a herringbone fleece fabric cut in reefer style with huge pockets being shown above.

YOUR NEXT PARTY.

GLAMOUR IN MAKE-UP
Miss Forbes tells you again about the glamorous make-up which smart women have adopted this year—and which they borrowed from the stage.

Go pretty gay on your next party and try this make-up. See that you have all the necessary things first, or you can't manage it properly. You want your usual face powder, cleansing cream, eye-shade, eye-liner, mascara, lipstick, nail polish (an exotic kind), rouge, and of course, the new theatrical foundation cream, the grease-paint cream. This you can buy very luxuriously and expensively, but if you can't afford it you either make it yourself with a grease paint stick and cream as I have already told you, or else you cream the face first, wipe off gently, then smear on and spread the grease paint as actresses do. To begin—cleanse with cream, wash with hot water and soap and rinse with cold water. Then a little cleansing cream, just to make an oily base. Then either the grease paint foundation or the stick paint. Spread to an even coating all over the face and throat. If you use a grease rouge, put it on now. You can, however, use a cake rouge if you are careful. In this case, you powder the skin thickly and let the powder soak into the grease. Then wipe over the face gently. This, finally, the second powdering—it takes two, often three, to absorb that grease.

Now, what about gold eye-shadow, brown or black eyelash mascara, and gold finger nails? Or green eye shadow, brown or blue mascara, and green nail? Silver eye shadow in nice with grey eyes, but silver nails look tinny, and are often not a success, even with a silver trimmed dress. White pearl might be used instead. They're best with a black dress, to, as the black shows them up so well. Bronze for sunburned skin, of course.

Mrs. V. L.—Most of the large dairies put up a cultured milk that neutralizes fermentation in the intestinal tract. You may even get one of these, or one that would be similar in effect, at most of the soda water fountains. Buttermilk has a somewhat similar effect also. You would probably have to give an order ahead for the special milk and it will necessarily be a bit more in price than the usual supply.

Oversubscription Marks Offering Of Billion in Bonds

WASHINGTON, June 2.—(P)—Speedy oversubscription was recorded today as the treasury's books were closed on the latest cash offering of $1,000,000,000 in notes and bonds.

Secretary Morgenthau described the financing as a "great success." "I am more than pleased," he said at a press conference after the books had been kept open only one business day. "They simply put the cash on the barrel-head and money talks louder than anything else."

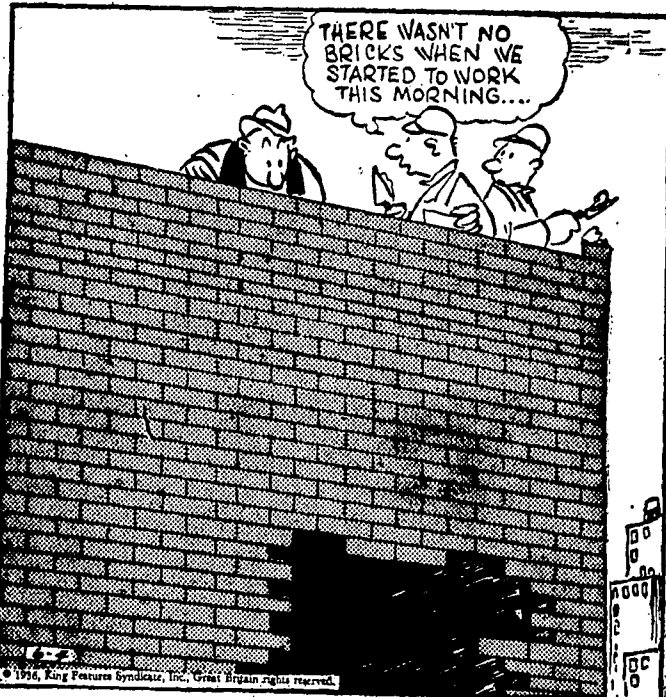

The cabinet member would not estimate the amount of the oversubscription. Applications for either the $600,000,000 in 15-18 year 2 3/4 per cent bonds of $400,000,000 in five-year 1 3/4 per cent notes mailed by last midnight were to be accepted.

The books for the separate conversion offering will remain open until midnight tomorrow. This consists of $1,050,754,400 in bonds or notes in exchange for $686,616,400 in 1-1 1/2 per cent notes maturing June 15 and $364,138,000 in 3 1/4 per cent notes maturing August 1.

The $2,050,754,400 total offering was the largest in peace time history and carried record low interest rates.

TEXAS CENTENNIAL RADIO PROGRAMS TO OPEN GREAT EXHIBIT

FAVORITE ANNOUNCERS OF
CBS AND NBC WILL TELL
WORLD OF BIG SHOW

DALLAS, June 4.—(Sp.)—Parade in four centuries of glorious history by giving the nation three unique transcontinental radio programs when the Texas Centennial Exposition opens at Dallas, June 6.

First opening day news of this $25,000,000 world's fair of 1936 will be a bird's eye view, broadcast to the world from an airplane soaring over the Exposition grounds for a special half hour program to be heard on the NBC Blue Network at 8 a. m. C. S. T. In the cabin of the American Airline Sleeper will be a new RCA short wave transmitter of 3,000 mile range. The entire cast including announcers, federal and exposition officials and groups of cowboys, Mexican and negro entertainers will be aboard. The plane will circle over the Exposition area for 30 minutes with announcer and guest officials describing the scene below.

Ted Husing will take the air at high noon C. S. T., to open officially the Exposition with an hour broadcast over CBS. This show involves a round-the-world broadcast and remote pickups from the capitals of Spain and France.

Chorus of 1000 Voices.
The broadcast will open at the main Exposition gates with a negro chorus of 1000 voices. Governor James V. Allred, youngest state governor, will address the radio audience briefly, inviting the world to visit Texas and the Centennial Exposition. His final words will be relayed around the world by short wave radio and return to break a circuit and open the gates.

As the crowds start through the gates the radio audience will be given a trip around the grounds with short descriptions of the main points. The tour will end at the 45,000 seat Cotton Bowl where the pageant of Texas under six flags will be staged.

Spain, whose house of Aragon first ruled the Land of the Lone Star, will cut in by remote control from Madrid, where Foreign Minister Augusto Barcia will speak briefly.

French Prime Minister to Speak.
Prime Minister Leon Blum, of France, will then speak from Paris, Mexico's part in the ceremony will be taken by Frank Chapa, whose family migrated to Texas from Mexico in 1731 and has been prominently in Texas history.

General Andrew Jackson, Houston, grandson of Sam Houston, Texas Liberator, will speak for the Texas Republic from Washington-on-the-Bay.

When the flags of the Republic of Texas and the Confederacy have been raised, Secretary of Commerce Daniel Roper, representing President Franklin D. Roosevelt, will speak for the United States.

The National Broadcasting Company will return to the air through the Gulf-Exposition radio system at 8:30 p. m. C. S. T. for the night show during which the lights will be turned on for the first time. The program will include 15 distinct parts, or pickups.

Hour Broadcast Over NBC.
The Court of Honor will be the first point visited. There, in court adjoining the million dollar Texas Hall of State, the special NBC announcer will set the stage for the hour broadcast. The official lighting of the grounds will be described from atop the 170 foot tower of the Federal Building after which three random visitors will be asked for their reactions to the elaborate lighting system.

The scene then will shift to the Open Air Band Shell where the Marine Band will play a march tune before a transfer to the Midway Village where the Mayor of the Tiny City will be interviewed. The strains of Jan Garber's music will come in from the General Motors Auditorium. A skit from the Cavalcade of Texas will then be heard from the world's largest stage after which Jose Manzanera and his South Amer-

SENATE WORKING ON TAX BILL, APPROVES INCOME INCREASES

DECKS BEING CLEARED FOR MAJOR AMENDMENTS BAT-TLE TOMORROW

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(P)—The senate today gave tentative approval to provisions of the tax bill which would increase surtaxes on all incomes in brackets beyond $6,000.

Temporarily, however, the chamber skipped over the heart of the measure, embracing a new plan for taxing incorporated industry. There was no record vote on increases in income surtaxes, one of the major features of the tax bill. The boosts in income surtaxes were estimated to produce $50,000,000.

The chamber cleared the way for the major scraps over the bill by adopting, with some modifications, an amendment imposing excise and processing taxes of 3 to 4.2 cents per pound on imported fish and vegetable oils.

Consideration of the measure had been slowed down while Senator Copeland (D-N.Y.) fought unsuccessfully to exempt inedible whale oil from a tax of 3 cents per pound.

The senate, agreed, however, to a proposal of Senator Frazier (R-ND) for a 2 cents per pound tax on perma seed, turned him down on an agreement under which fatty acids derived from linned oil would have been taxed.

The senate then began speeding through the sections supplementary to the corporation tax features, approving one committee amendment after another without objection.

Among the changes thus tentatively accepted were:

Tightening up existing law for application of penalty taxes against corporations "improperly" accumulating surpluses.

Eliminating drastic restrictions on tax credits which the house bill would have placed on holding company systems.

Copeland charged that farm organization leaders have joined an "unholy alliance" with the fish industry on behalf of excise taxes on imported vegetable and fish oils today marked resumption of debate in the tax bill.

Copeland was battling to exempt inedible whale oil from an excise levy of 3 cents per pound, contending that if this were done a market would open up abroad for American butter and lard.

"There is a coalition," Copeland said, "between the fish industry and farm leaders. I am ashamed of the Grange and the Farm Bureau Federation in their choice of leaders."

"It is an unholy alliance. There is a conspiracy on the part of official leaders of the farm groups."

He added that lobbyists had been active in obtaining insertion of provisions which would pick up from the Ford patio.

Midway Feature.
From the midway will come the sales-spiel of a typical barker as he extolls the charms and entertainment of his show and this will fade into the organ music from the Chrysler Salon.

The next switch will be to one of the Gulf radio studios for an interview with an old-time Texas Ranger, typical Texas tune from a cowboy group and the staff orchestra.

In the federal negro building a group of negro jubilee singers will do a spiritual song. Another dramatic skit will show Judge Roy Bean, just-slain keeper as he hands down one of his unique legal decisions. The program will be signed off with a medley of six tunes representing Texas under six flags, with the Marine Band doing honors in the band shell.

BODY OF CUBAN IS FOUND HANGING IN HIS HOTEL SUITE

LAREDO, June 4.—(P)—The body of Tomas Carizola, 35-year-old Cuban, was found hanging from a water pipe by a towel in the bathroom of his Nuevo Laredo hotel suite today, the wrists were slashed.

Hotel authorities said Carizola put in a telephone call to a woman in Mexico city. They said a bellboy found the body when he went to the Cuban's rooms to notify him the party was on the line.

A razor was found near the body. A coroner's verdict was death due to strangulation, self-inflicted.

Carizola, acquaintances said, was en route home to Cuba by way of Mexico after a visit to New Orleans.

of the excise levies and remarked that one had only to walk through the capitol corridors to find "the sulphuric fumes of hell."

Disposition of the oil levies was the only major action required to turn the senate toward key sections of the bill dealing with the boosting of income surtaxes over $6,000 and increased corporation taxes.

U. S. Chamber Opens Fight on Tax Bill

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(P)—As senators in charge of a much revised tax bill drove it through debate today in an effort to pass it by tonight, the chamber of commerce of the United States opened fire on the measure.

The chamber distributed a statement saying that while the bill is better than one passed by the house, it is "open to many serious objections" and would have "destructive effects upon companies."

This was only one of several developments in a swift-moving situation. Another was an intimation in Capitol Hill circles that the president might compromise and swing part way at least toward the senate bill, which is far out of line with his suggestions for stiff, graduated taxes on undistributed profits of corporations.

This would mean that some portions, at least, of the bill, which more nearly coincides with White House ideas, might be scrapped.

Many senators feel that the senate bill would open up abroad for American butter and lard.

"There is a coalition," Copeland said, "between the fish industry and farm leaders. I am ashamed of the Grange and the Farm Bureau Federation in their choice of leaders."

"It is an unholy alliance. There is a conspiracy on the part of official leaders of the farm groups."

He added that lobbyists had been active in obtaining insertion of provisions which would pick up from the Ford patio.

POOLE EXECUTION DECIDED UPON NIGHT BEFORE HIS SLAYING

THIS TESTIMONY ADDUCED
IN EXAMINING TRIAL
BLACK LEGIONNAIRES

DETROIT, June 2.—(P)—Testimony intended to show that the "execution" of Charles A. Poole was definitely decided upon the night before his body was found in a ditch on a country roadway was introduced today at the examination of 13 of 15 members of the Black Legion charged with abduction and murder.

The testimony was given by Detective Sergeant John Harvill, who told of a conversation with Dayton Dean, admitted Black Legion "executioner."

It was the investigation of the slaying of Poole that disclosed the widespread ramifications of the hooded secret terrorist societies.

Harvill quoted Dean as telling him that Harvey Davis, called a "colony" of the Black Legion and one of the 13 in court today, said:

"Whether we use a rope or not, it will be a one-way ride."

The remark was made, the detective said, while Davis and Dean were en route to the meeting hall at which action against Poole was decided upon. At the hall, Harvill said Dean told him, Davis and another defendant, Ervin Lee, coiled up a rope and placed it in a suit case.

Dean has confessed he shot Poole believing "that's what was expected of me," when other members of the night riding band who had the rope, did not put in an appearance.

Dean also said, Detective Harvill related, that Davis, addressing the meeting of the Legion, "Let's take him (Poole) out and beat him up."

Respond to Call.
To a call for volunteers, he continued, Paul R. Edwards, Urban Lipps, Lee and Dean responded.

Poole was found in a beer garden and picked up for the fatal ride. At Gully Road, about 10 miles from downtown Detroit, Davis ordered all out of the automobile, excepting Poole.

"There must be some mistake," the young WPA worker told the band. "I never beat up my wife. She's in the hospital right now, having a baby."

Dean then began shooting, the detective said, and the men returned to town.

Ruby Lane, a sister-in-law of Herschell Gill, one of the defendants, had testified earlier that Davis had told Gill and Lowell Rushing, another of the men held, that "something should be done" about the accusation that Poole had beaten his wife.

Other Defendants.
The other defendants in court were Edgar Baldwin, Thomas R.

Craig, John Bannerman, John S. Vincent, Virgil Morrow and Albert Stevens. Of the other two George C. Johnson is ill, and the examination of John B. Mitchell was postponed because his attorney was obliged to appear in another court.

Miss Lane testified the conversation took place in the home of Herschell Gill, her brother-in-law. Davis was told that Poole's wife, Rebecca, had said the 32-year-old WPA worker had whipped her.

Miss Lane said, and Davis then declared that a "man who would do a thing like that should be taken out and beaten up or something."

Duncan C. McCrea, Wayne county prosecutor, has asserted that one of the defendants admitted to him that Poole was slain, not because of the wife beating, but "because he knew too much."

The examination, conducted before a crowded courtroom, is to determine whether the group should be bound over for trial in circuit court on kidnap and murder charges.

Only thirteen of the 15 men accused of "execution" were brought, handcuffed into common pleas court today for the examination.

DETROIT, June 2.—(P)—Investigation of Black Legion terrorism moved to court today for the examination of 15 accused night riders on charges of murder and kidnapping.

Seven of them are accused of being present when Charles A. Poole, 32-year old WPA worker, was shot to death at a roadside in an "execution" charged to the hooded and robed order.

The others are charged with attending a meeting preceding the slaying at which, Police Inspector John I. Navarre asserted, shouts of "kill him" greeted charges that Poole had beaten his wife.

Mrs. Poole later denied that her husband ever had mistreated her, and Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea said he had been told that Poole was killed because he "knew too much" about the Black Legion.

Two other men were held today for questioning about the meeting at which, Police Inspector John I. Navarre asserted, shouts of "kill him" greeted charges that Poole had beaten his wife.

GIANT DEFICIENCY APPROPRIATION IS PASSED BY SENATE

MOOT RELIEF FEATURE OF
BILL FORCES MEASURE
BACK TO CONFERENCE

By NATHAN ROBERTSON
Associated Press Staff Writer.
WASHINGTON, June 2.—(P)—Emerging triumphantly from the senate with a 62 to 14 vote of approval, a giant relief and deficiency appropriation bill sped today into a conference in which senators will try to straighten out differences with the house.

So fast did the senate amend and expand the bill last night, that clerks could not immediately compute the exact total of funds it carries. But the sum was figured roughly at more than $2,428,000,000, of which the biggest item is a $1,425,000,000 grant to President Roosevelt to carry on WPA and other relief activities next fiscal year.

Fighting without hope of success but for purposes "of the record" Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) sought to dismantle WPA and return the administration of relief to the states, with the federal government bearing 75 per cent of the cost. His amendment was snowed under, 57 to 14.

On this issue Vandenberg found himself opposed by Senator Borah of Idaho, another man prominent in the Republican presidential picture, and as the debate continued the name of Gov. Alf M. Landon was mentioned in chiding tones from the Democratic side.

Vandenberg argued that if the job of administration were given to the states "waste and political and his death was presumed to be a suicide. A grand jury investigation of the Black Legion is under way in Flint.

The Wayne county prosecutor also made public a telegram from Senator Elmer A. Benson (R-Minn.) asking for evidence to support a joint resolution for investigation of the Black Legion and "similar unAmerican terrorist groups throughout the United States."

Senator Benson's telegram seeking particularly for any evidence connecting the Black Legion with the burning of Father Charles E. Coughlin's original shrine in the Little Flower last winter.

exploitation" would be avoided. Borah disagreed on the wisdom of such a move. He said Harry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator, was right and that it was "not in the interest of economy for one sovereignty to contribute the money and another to administer it."

Senator Schwellenbach (D-Wash.) broke in to say that since the senate was hearing from some "Republican candidates," it should be advised of views expressed in the past by Gov. Landon of Kansas. He read from a number of utterances he attributed to Landon, including a statement that "the president and WPA are doing all in their power to get the people work."

Secretary Tokes' WPA is permitted to use $300,000,000 for grants to local agencies to carry on public works; grants not to exceed 45 per cent of construction costs.

The president is permitted to continue the giant Florida ship canal if engineering boards of review approve.

An amendment offered by Senator Hayden (D-Ariz.) and approved by the senate yesterday added $57,000,000 to the bill for western reclamation projects.

Cream Supper
There will be an ice cream supper at Pearsley School House, Friday night, June 5th. Benefit of the P. T. A. Candidates are especially invited to attend.
